

Job posting

Faculty Position: English Language Studies (Aug 2026)

LCC International University

LCC International University invites applications for the position of a promotion-track, full-time professor to begin work in the fall semester, 2026. The position includes; teaching courses in language studies, research, and advising senior thesis students in the English Language and Literature Department.

LCC International University is a fully-accredited liberal arts university located in the port city of Klaipėda, Lithuania. Instruction is in English, and the campus is residential. Our nearly 600 students from divergent faith backgrounds come from over 60 countries for an education modeled on the North American liberal arts college with a Christian worldview.

The English Department offers a BA English Philology with areas of concentration in writing, literature, and translation. Because of the international nature of the student body, there are many opportunities for research in the areas of multilingualism, applied linguistics, sociolinguistics, didactics, assessment, language and culture, and language acquisition.

Job Description

- Teach BA level (first cycle) courses in the areas of applied linguistics, multilingualism, language and culture, and research methods.
- Research and publications.
- Advise senior thesis projects.

Qualifications

- PhD in Applied Linguistics, Psycholinguistics, Languages and Culture, or related field.
- Competence in teaching undergraduate courses.
- Demonstrated record of scholarship.
- Commitment to student-centered teaching within a Christian worldview.